Gecko: A gecko is a 5' long lizard colored pale blue with orange-brown spots. Geckos are carnivorous and nocturnal (sleeping during the day and active at night or in darkness). Geckos hunt by climbing steep walls (or trees) with their specially adapted feet, then dropping on their prey to attack.

Draco: A draco is a 6' long lizard with wide flaps of skin between its legs which it can spread to glide through the air (like a flying squirrel). Dracos are generally found above ground, though they sometimes creep into caves to escape very cold or very hot weather. Dracos are carnivorous and have been known to attack humans.

Horned Chameleon: A horned chameleon is a 7' long lizard which can change color to blend into its surroundings. It surprises on a roll of 1-5 (1d6). A horned chameleon can shoot out its sticky tongue up to 5' long. A successful hit means that the victim is pulled to the horned chameleon's mouth and automatically bitten for 2d4 points of damage. The horned chameleon can also attack with its horn (for 1d6) and may use its tail to knock other attackers down (roll for a hit, not doing any damage but preventing the victim from attacking that round).

Tuatara: A tuatara is a 8' long lizard that looks like a cross between an iguana and a toad. It has pebble-colored olive skin with white spikes along its back. It is carnivorous and sometimes attacks humans. A tuatara has a membrane over its eyes which, when lowered, is sensitive to changes in temperature, allowing it to "see" in darkness (90' infravision).

These water-dwelling creatures look like men with lizard heads and tails. They live in tribes. They will try to capture humans and demi-humans and take the victims back to the tribal lair as the main course of a feast. Lizard men are semi-intelligent and use weapons such as spears and large clubs (treat the clubs as maces) gaining a bonus of +1 on damage rolls due to their great strength. Lizard men are often found in swamps, rivers, and along seacoasts as well as in dungeons.

† Armor Class when in human form.

Lycanthropes are humans who can change into beasts (or in the case of wererats, beasts who can change into humans). They do not wear armor, since it would interfere with their shapechanging. Any lycanthrope can summon 1 or 2 of the animals of their were-type (werebears may summon bears, werewolves may summon wolves, etc.) who will arrive in 1-4 (1d4) rounds. If a lycanthrope is hit by wolfsbane, it must save vs. Poison or run away in fear. The sprig of wolfsbane must be swung or thrown as a weapon, using normal combat procedures. All lycanthropes will turn back into human form when killed. Some animals (such as horses) do not like the smell of lycanthropes and will react with fear.

ANIMAL FORM: In animal form, a lycanthrope may only be harmed by magic weapons, silvered weapons, or magic spells. The lycanthrope cannot speak normal languages, though it can speak with normal animals of its were-type (for example, wererats can speak with normal rats).

HUMAN FORM: In human form, a lycanthrope often looks somewhat like their were-form (wererats have longer noses, werebears are hairy, and so forth). In this form, they may be attacked normally, and may speak any known languages.

LYCANTHROPY: Lycanthropy is a disease. Any human character who is severely hurt by were-creatures (losing more than half of his or her hit points when in battle with them) will become a lycanthrope of the same type in 2-24 (2d12) days. The victim will begin to show signs of the disease after only half that time. The disease will kill non-humans instead of turning them into were-creatures. It may only be cured by a high level cleric (11th level or greater, as explained in the D&D EXPERT rules), who will do so for a suitable price or service. Any character who becomes a full werecreature will become an NPC, to be run by the DM only.

Wererats: Wererats are different from most lycanthropes. They are intelligent, can speak Common in either form, and may use any weapon. A wererat usually prefers to use a man-sized rat form, but may become a full-sized human. Wererats are sneaky and often set ambushes, surprising on a roll of 1-4 (on 1d6). They summon giant rats to help them in battle. Only a wererat's bite causes lycanthropy.
