

Scrolls

A scroll is a piece of old paper or parchment upon which a high level magic-user, elf or cleric has written a magical formula. To use a scroll there must be enough light to read by, and the scroll must be read aloud. A scroll can only be used once, for the words will fade from the scroll when they are read aloud. A spell scroll can only be read by a magic-user, elf, or cleric, but a Protection scroll or a Treasure Map can be read by anyone.

SPELL SCROLL: These scrolls may have 1, 2, or 3 spells written on them. If more than one spell is written on a scroll only the spell cast will disappear when read. Spell scrolls may have either magic-user or elf spells (75%) or clerical spells (25%). Magic-user and elf spells are written in a magical language and require that the spell-caster use a read magic spell in order to understand the scroll so that it may be used later. Clerical scrolls are written in a common tongue, but only clerics have the spiritual contacts necessary to make the spell work. Magic-users and elves cannot use clerical scrolls, nor can clerics read magic-user or elf scrolls.

The DM may choose the spells on a scroll or the spells may be determined randomly by using the chart below (roll 1d6) to determine the spell levels and then roll for each of the spells on the appropriate spell level list.

Die Roll	Level of Spell
1-3	1st level
4-5	2nd level
6	3rd level*

*See Higher Level Spells, page B18.

CURSED SCROLL: Unfortunately, when any writing on a cursed scroll is looked at, the reader will immediately be cursed. It is up to the DM to make up each curse. Examples of a few common ones are:

1. The reader turns into a frog (or some other harmless animal).
2. A wandering monster of the same level as the reader appears next to the reader and attacks with surprise.
3. One magic item owned by the reader disappears (the item is chosen or randomly determined by the DM).
4. The reader loses one level of experience (as if struck by a wight); 1st level characters will simply die.
5. The reader's prime requisite must be rerolled.
6. Wounds will take twice as long to heal, and healing spells only restore half normal amounts.

Only a remove curse spell (see the D&D EXPERT SET) can remove the curse of this nature. However, the DM may allow the cursed characters to remove it by completing a special adventure or performing a worthy but difficult task.

PROTECTION SCROLL: A protection scroll may be read and used by any class. When read, it creates a circle of protection 10' across (unless the description or the DM states otherwise), which can move with the reader at its center. It will prevent any of the given creatures from entering this circle, but does not prevent spell or missile attacks from those creatures. The circle will be broken if anyone protected attacks one of the given creatures in hand-to-hand combat.

Protection from Lycanthropes: When read, this scroll will protect all those within the circle from a variable number of lycanthropes for 6 turns. The number of lycanthropes affected varies according to their hit dice, as follows:

1-3 hit dice:	1-10 (1d10) affected
4-5 hit dice:	1-8 (1d8) affected
6 or more hit dice:	1-4 (1d4) affected

Protection from Undead: When read, this scroll will protect all those within the circle from a variable number of undead for 6 turns. The number of undead affected varies according to their hit dice, as follows:

1-3 hit dice:	2-24 (2d12) affected
4-5 hit dice:	2-12 (2d6) affected
6 or more hit dice:	1-6 (1d6) affected

TREASURE MAP: A treasure map should be made by the DM in advance, and should show the location of some treasure hoard in the dungeon. The DM may choose any types of treasures to equal the total value given. These treasures should be guarded by monsters. Sometimes maps are only partially complete, or are written in the form of riddles, and can only be read by using a read languages spell.

Rings

A magical ring must be worn on a finger or thumb to be used. A ring may also be carried and put on when desired. Only one magic ring can be worn on each hand. If more than that are worn, none of the rings will function, with the exception of a ring of weakness (see below). Any ring may be used by any character class.

Animal Control: The wearer of this ring may command 1-6 normal or 1 giant-sized animal(s) and the animals are not allowed a saving throw. The ring will not control intelligent animal races or fantastic or magical monsters. The wearer must be able to see the animals to control them. The control will last as long as the wearer concentrates on the animals and does not move or fight. When the wearer stops concentrating, the animals will be free to attack their controller or run away (roll reactions with a penalty of -1 on the roll). This ring can only be used once per turn.

Fire Resistance: The wearer of this ring will not be harmed by normal fires, and gains a bonus of +2 on any saving throws vs. fire Spells and vs. Red Dragon Breath. In addition, the DM must subtract 1 point from each die of fire damage to the wearer (with a minimum damage of 1 point per hit die).

Invisibility: The wearer is invisible as long as the ring is worn. If the wearer attacks or casts spells, he or she will become visible. The wearer can only become invisible once per turn.

Protection +1: This ring will make the wearer's Armor Class better by 1. For example, a magic-user with no armor (AC 9) would have AC 8 when wearing it. The ring will also give a bonus of +1 to all of the wearer's saving throw rolls.

Water Walking: The wearer of this ring may walk on the surface of any body of water, and will not sink.

Weakness: When this ring is put on, the wearer becomes weaker, and his or her Strength score becomes 3 within 6 rounds (1 minute). The wearer has a penalty of -3 on "to hit" and damage rolls. In combat, any successful hit will still do at least 1 point of damage. The wearer cannot take off this ring (unless a remove curse spell is used, found in the D&D EXPERT rules). The DM may choose to allow characters to remove the ring by performing some special task or adventure.

Wands, Staves, and Rods

A wand is a thin smooth stick about 1½' long. A rod is similar, but 3' long; and a staff is 2" thick and 6' long. In D&D BASIC rules, wands may only be used by magic-users and elves, and staves may only be used by clerics. Unless otherwise specified, a wand, staff, or rod will contain 1-10 (1d10) charges when found. Each item is described below:

Wand of Enemy Detection: When a charge is used, this item will cause all enemies within 60' (even those hidden or invisible) to glow, as if on fire.
